THE OVEN

The Oven is completely insulated on top, bottom, front, back and sides. It heats quickly, bakes evenly, uses a minimum of gas. It is a 3-Way Oven: 1) high speed, 2) low temperature, 3) Retained-Heat Oven. It comes up to high temperatures rapidly. It maintains low temperatures accurately,

In addition, its remarkable construction permits you to turn off the gas entirely after a short cos-on period. Food finishes cooking on stored beat. and is done in the usual length of time. But mest, and many vegetables and desacrts can be left in the Chambers Oven much longer, and still be bee and tasty. The Oven becomes a sealed warming closet at the end of the actual cooking time. You can cook from meal to meal, at your own convenience, when you "cook with the gas turned off"; nothing can burn or scorch,

Set your Chambers Oven Heat Control (thermostat) at 500 for most means nouticy fish and wesetables. I take your Oven and hum the pas 10 minutes; this is called the "prebeat". Then put in the food and follow the sas-on and cas-off (retained heat) instructions given on the cooking chart. page 5. Notice that you burn the gas only about 5 to 7 minutes for each cound of meat plus "occhest"; even less for large coints. Or figure about 10 minutes of eas fee each hour of cooking, plus the "preheat" sine,

You can start from a cold Oven, if you prefer. Simply use the gas-on time is no preheating, then follow the retained-heat instructions of the chart. When meat has been seared on a too burner, it should en into a preheated Oven

You can do law temperature cooking with the gas on all the time in your Chambers Oven, because it cooks beautifully "with the gas turned on" too. But the juicy tenderness of retained-heat roasting is something Chambers Range users brag about.

To make your meals more delicines, save time, labor, fuel, and even food inelf, you will want to 'cook with the gas turned off' morning, noon and night.

BASIC PECIPE FOR POASTING MEAT AND POLITRY

Rosst (3 pounds and up) Pepper 1/2 tenspoon salt per pound

Set Chambers Oven at 500 and preheat for 10 minutes. Bub must with seasonings; place in rosster; and put mest, uncovered, into prehested Oven. Leave uncovered 10 to 20 minutes until meat begins to brown. Cover roaster, adding 1/5 to 1 can liquid only if meat is rough or lean and dry, or if you want an unusually large amount of gravy. Usually no liquid at all is needed. Continue burning gas to complete the required gas-on time given on chart, page 5. Turn off gas and cook on retained heat according to the chart.

THREE WAYS TO SEAR MEAT AND POULTRY

1) Leave lid off rooster wall meet begins to brown, as explained in "Basic Recipe" above,

Tender cuts of ment can be coshed lidlens, while lough cuts always should be covered. Put he file on louosely and lous events in resulter open to previde a happy compromise for such cuts as it is beef, leg of lamb and lois of port, because no liquid it didded to ender cuts, a cutsy bewar can be obtained with a life which minimizes splatter and bulgs heat retending over leg periods of eline.
